Daring Feats Of Submariners Helping To Win War In Pacific

After more than three years of unrelenting but largely silent submarine warfare, the Navy has begun releasing for publication some of the deeds by which, as Admiral King has put it, American submarines have "determined the course of the war in the Pacific."

By attacking supply lines, they neutralized Truk and other of Japan's southwest Pacific outposts and permitted the by-passing of the last year's advances toward Japan. In addition to their great toll of Japanese shipping, both merchant and naval, they also helped supply the Philippine guerrillas and rescue Allied fighters from Japanese-held areas.

The army, air force and navy all have their public heroes, but the undersea fighters have done most of their work in secret. This is the first of several stories on how they compiled their record.

By RICHARD O'MALLEY

Pearl Harbor, June 1 (AP) — A blunt-nosed Japanese freighter, serene in the knowledge that she was in home waters, churned southward one day, carrying supplies to the emperor's troops. Crewmen slouched indolently at the rails. Then there was a terrific explosion and the vessel disappeared.

A few hundred yards away a round-faced, genial young skipper, Lt. Cmdr. George L. Street, III, of Norfolk, Va., turned away from his periscope and grinned. His submarine had drawn its first blood.

It was the start of a war patrol that evoked this commendation from Navy officials: "It will go down in history as one of the most outstanding patrols of the war."

Under Fish Nets

After her first kill the submarine knifed northward to find other targets. Once, she was forced down to 150 feet to get under the nets of Japanese fishermen, so close was she to the enemy shoreline.

The submarine bobbed to the surface one day to take on a squat lugger after the skipper decided it was a "surface target." The lugger was no sitting duck. As water boiled from the sub's bow, machine gun bullets from the enemy craft whined off her plating. With a five-inch gun the submarine silenced the lugger, then chewed it to bits. It was another close call, for a Japanese airplane swooped down on the submarine, chasing it beneath the waves.

Lt. Endicott Peabody II, an officer of the sub's crew, led a prisoner-taking action. Peabody is the Peabody of Harvard whose galloping with a football won him an all America berth in 1941. His home is in Syracuse, N. Y.

Board Fishing Boat

One morning when the submarine found herself amid a fleet of Japanese fishing schooners, Street ordered her to the surface.

"We had trouble getting alongside one large schooner," he wrote. This was overcome by jamming a five-inch shell through the craft's

TRUCK SMASHES HOUSE FRONTS IN CRASH TODAY

A five-ton semi-trailer, belonging to the Super Service Motor Freight company, Nashville, Tenn., and carrying about 10 tons of freight failed to make the turn from Buford avenue into Chambersburg street between 1:30 and 2 o'clock this morning and careened over the curb, shearing off the front porch of Thaddeus Warren's house, demolished two automobiles and drove a telephone pole into the three-family house next door.

The operator, William Howard Lettner of Rockwood, Tenn., was committed to county jail in default of $25 fine and costs by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of reckless driving brought by Borough Officer Clark W. Staley.

The two automobiles belonged to Edward Hughes and Mrs. Katherine Eckenrode. They were parked along the curb in front of the two damaged houses. The hood and cab of the truck crashed the rear of Hughes' car and mashed the left side of Mrs. Eckenrode's car which appeared to have been dragged several yards by the uncontrolled vehicle.

Damage About $1,000

The entire front porch of Warren's house in which Mr. Warren and Mr. Hughes live was ripped away and carried 10 feet up the street. The brick sidewalk was torn up by the body of the trailer which came to rest on its side directly in front of the Warren house after driving the telephone pole against the roof of the other house occupied by Mrs. Eckenrode and the William Spence family.

The pavement, front steps and railing at the front of the property of John Raffensperger, which adjoins the Warren property on the east, were damaged by the overturned trailer.

Unofficial estimates of damage placed the loss at about $500 to both cars and $3,000 to $4,000 to the houses and sidewalk.

The driver of the truck, W. H. Lettner, said he was traveling at between 20 and 25 miles an hour, but witnesses at the scene said tire marks and damage would indicate a greater speed.

The assistant driver, Felix Woodward of Nashville, was treated at the Warner hospital for lacerations about the face.

MONTH OF JUNE GREETED BY LOW TEMPERATURES

A cool, wet month of May, marked by weather extremes that included ice, thunderstorms, killing frosts and cloudbursts, came to a chilly close Thursday night as June began with an official low temperature only 16 degrees above freezing.

Weather records of Dr. Henry Stewart, local observer, showed a minimum temperature for the month of May of 31 degrees, recorded May 2. The maximum for the month was 84 degrees and was reached May 15. The average temperature for the month—60.5 degrees—was eight-tenths of a degree below normal.

Frequent thunderstorms contributed to the total of 4.28 inches of rainfall for May. That total is .31 inches above the normal for May. The heaviest rainfall in any 24-hour period occurred May 3 when 1.02 inches fell. There were measurable amounts of rain on 14 of the 31 days.

Snow Reported Today

Sixteen days last month were clear. Five of the others were partly cloudy and the 10 remaining were listed as cloudy.

At noon today the mercury stood at 54 degrees in official thermometers here.

Scranton, Pa., June 1 (AP)—For the first time in June in the forty-five-year-old history of the United States Weather Bureau here, snow fell in this city shortly after 10:30 o'clock this morning. The downfall was brief and light and soon changed to rain.

COUNTY BOND SALES "LAG"

Sale of war bonds to individuals in Adams county has slowed considerably and hopes of an early attainment of the goal of $700,000 are fading, according to a member of the county War Finance Committee.

Total sales to date are $331,267.75 or $368,732.25 short of the goal with a little more than a month remaining.

"Our sales are far below our expectations," the committee member stated. "We had hoped to be well over the half-way mark by Memorial Day but thus far we have not as yet reached $350,000 in sales. There is some little confusion in some sales relative to the sale of E bonds. In some instances issuing agencies have failed to designate whether the particular sales were made to individuals. This matter will not be cleared until the Federal Reserve District makes its official report of sales in Adams county in about two weeks."

Expensive Rockets

Washington, June 1 (AP)—Treasury official put the spotlight on rocket projectiles today as another reason for buying extra bonds in War Loan.

They said they have been told by the navy that rockets:

1. Will be produced at the rate of more than a billion dollars a year.
2. Can be fired by a single naval vessel at the rate of $20,000 a minute.

Meantime Ted R. Gamble, War Finance director, reminded large investors that today is the issue date of the four marketable issues of the War Loan:

Two and one-half per cent Treasury bonds of 1967-72; 2 1/2 per cent bonds of 1959-62; 1 1/2 per cent bonds of 1950; and one-year 3/4 per cent certificates of indebtedness.

The 14-billion dollar bond drive started May 14 and ends June 30.

POSTPONE MEETING

The Lower Marsh Creek Church of the Brethren Christian Endeavor society will not hold its monthly meeting Sunday evening due to the Gettysburg high school baccalaureate services. The meeting will be held Sunday, June 10, at which time the Rev. G. S. Stoneback, pastor of the Fairfield Mennonite church, will be the speaker.

Mrs. Lewars Will Talk To Historians

"A Cross-section of Gettysburg in 1880" will be the subject of a talk to be given next Tuesday evening by Mrs. E. S. Lewars before the June meeting of the Adams County Historical society to be held at 8 o'clock in the court house.

The meeting is open to members and friends of the society and to all persons interested in local history. The program should be of special interest to Gettysburgians whose families lived here in the nineteenth century, society officers said.

NEW LICENSES FOR DRINKING, EATING PLACES

Before June 23 all eating and drinking places in Adams county—and in the rest of Pennsylvania—must have on file with the state department of Health their applications for state licenses to continue in business beyond a six-month period from the effective date of a new state health law passed by the legislature and signed into law May 22 by Governor Martin.

In boroughs, the licensor is the local board of health while in second class townships—in which classification all townships in this county fall—the state Department of Health will issue the licenses.

Health officers in Gettysburg and other Adams county boroughs and William I. Shields, state sanitarian for rural Adams county, have been sent instructions on their new duties in connection with the new law. The license application forms are available from those officials.

Inspect Premises

The act provides that no license shall be issued until inspection of the premises, facilities and equipment has been made by the licensor and they are "found adequate to the protection of the public health and comfort of patrons."

The fee for the licenses is $1 and shall go to the borough treasury where local health officers serve or to the state treasury in the case of second class townships. The license must be renewed annually.

In cases where a proprietor operates more than one eating or drinking place within any one borough or township, duplicate applications must be filed but the fee for the duplicates is only 50 cents each, the act provides.

A licensor has the power to refuse licenses in instances where premises or equipment do not meet requirements but he is required to state in writing to the applicant the reason for the refusal.

Forms to be used throughout the state will be uniform.

The new law takes the place of the old restaurant-hygiene law of 1927.

EX-PRISONER IS VISITING HOME

Pfc. Otis Logan, of Biglerville, who was liberated from Stalag 13C April 29 by tank units of a Yankee armored spearhead, is visiting the home of Charles Pensyl, Biglerville. Logan was captured four and a half months after he arrived in the European theatre and spent eight months overseas. He has five children, Dawn, Theola, Mary, Betty and Calvin Edward, who have been making their home with Mr. Pensyl and his sister, Miss Maude Pensyl, while their father was away.

Pfc. Logan said that the camp where he was a prisoner was a work camp and the food and treatment were "pretty bad." At the time of his liberation the prisoners from Stalag 13C were being evacuated to the rear. Yankee tanks took the guard completely by surprise and they laid down their arms without a fight.

Pfc. Logan said that he had his first decent meal of roast beef, mashed potatoes, peas and gravy after liberation, and that he had no personal belongings when he was freed. All had been taken from him by the Germans.

Home on a 60-day furlough, Logan is not sure whether he will be discharged under the Army's point plan, and he has made no plans for having his family join him if he remains in service. He arrived in Biglerville Sunday.

Disorganized Japs On Okinawa Fading And End Is In Sight

By HAMILTON W. FARON

Guam, June 1 (AP)—Organized Japanese resistance on Okinawa appeared to be ended today.

Tenth Army Yanks pursued crippled, disorganized remnants of the Rising Sun's once-powerful island garrison and closed a trap on Shuri town while radio Tokyo admitted Japanese losses were "gradually increasing."

With Marines on the west and Infantry on the east, the Americans cut through both flanks to isolate the Shuri key point of Japanese defenses and to drive spears on both flanks southward so swiftly the retreating Nipponese were unable to set up new defenses.

Sixth Division Marines completed the mop-up in Naha, former capital city of the island with a population of 66,000, smashing furiously from all directions into remaining pockets.

Japanese Domei news agency, meanwhile, admitted in a dispatch broadcast by Tokyo radio, the "penetration" of Naha by Americans. It termed the situation a "critical development" which compelled Nipponese commanders to withdraw "part of their troops to positions in the rear in order to consolidate their defense lines."

In China

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, June 1 (AP) — The Chinese High Command announced today that Japanese troops were pushing southward along the East China Sea coast in Chekiang province in a possible attempt to establish a new anti-invasion line even as they gave ground in three other sectors.

The enemy columns reached Pingyang Sunday in a 10-mile advance from Julian, the high command said. Pingyang is 30 miles south of the port of Wenchow. It is 245 miles south of Shanghai and 150 miles northeast of recently-liberated Foochow, from which Chinese divisions are striking up the coast through Fukien province.

A collision of these forces with the fresh enemy elements appeared likely. The Chinese were pursuing withdrawing Japanese garrison units and a Chinese army spokesman said the pursuit action had reached a position 19 miles west of Siapao, near the coast 75 miles northeast of Foochow.

Inland, the Chinese announced gains in both Hunan and Kwangsi provinces.

The Army spokesman said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's forces were intensifying their preparations for a grand general offensive and predicted that this would be launched "earlier than originally planned."

In Borneo

By FRED HAMPSON

Manila, June 1 (AP)—The U. S. 13th Air Force stepped up its assaults on oil-rich Borneo as Australian invasion forces wound up their initial operation on its north-eastern island of Tarakan.

Today's communique reported raids which extended through a third straight day the aerial pounding of airfields, waterfronts, shipyards and other installations on Borneo.

With more than 100 bombers and fighters taking part each day, the 13th raiders struck Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Brunai Bay on the northwest coast, Balikpapan on the east central coast and Banjarmasin on the south coast.

The Aussies, who landed on Tarakan May 1, presently are finishing off enemy holdouts in caves.

The Fifth Air Force, aided by clearing weather, sent more than 100 Liberators with a fighter escort to Formosa Tuesday and followed up with a 60-plane raid Wednesday.

DISCLOSE DEVICE TO DISPEL FOGS

London, June 1 (AP)—Ingenuous oil burner devices, strung along the runways of air bases like lights, generated enough heat to dispel heavy fogs and permitted Allied planes to maintain sustained bombing of Germany regardless of weather.

Until now the device was a closely guarded war secret. Its potentialities for peacetime flying safety already are being put to use.

A description of the device was released by the air ministry and the Petroleum Warfare Office in a joint press conference yesterday. This all-British project was known to the military as "operation FIDO," short for "fog investigation and dispersal operation."

The device permitted a man sitting in a control tower to press a button and melt a no-visibility fog so effectively that within six minutes planes were able to land safely. Even the stars became visible. When all the planes were landed, the operator pressed the "off" button, and immediately heavy fog began to settle over the field again.

Just Folks
OUTMODED
Yes, the time was I could do it. There's a knack, and once I knew it. With a baby, safely trusted, All alone I'd learned to be. When our lives were just beginning I acquired the art of pinning; As a good assistant mother, There was none excelling me.

On my knee I used to take 'em. 'Nest and comfy' I could make 'em. In the old, triangle fashion I'd almost a woman's skill; I'm not boasting, Pray, believe me! In those days for hours they'd leave me.

With the baby, with assurance That a mother's place I'd fill.

But the dreadful truth I write is: Now my fingers have a pricking And I fumble with the pheritis Of the garments babies wear; And what even makes me sadder, And at all the women madder, Is the good old-style triangle Has become the modern square.

Sails for Europe: Miss Dorothy Kime, North Stratton street, sailed Friday night from New York on the S. S. Rotterdam on a six weeks' tour of northern Europe, including the Passion Play.

County Girl Wed Thursday: The United Brethren church at Biglerville was the scene of a pretty wedding on Thursday afternoon when Miss Mildred Elizabeth Roth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Roth, of Biglerville, became the bride of Carl Henry Hildebrand, of Baltimore. The Rev. J. B. Reed, pastor of the church, officiated.

Hoover Calls on Nation to Go Ahead: President Herbert Hoover called upon the nation to go forward to its tasks "moved by charity toward all, by malice toward none" in a Memorial Day address in the National cemetery here Friday afternoon.

Upon his arrival here, Mr. Hoover was met by Gov. John S. Fisher, who was the President's host while the Chief Executive was on Pennsylvania soil. The President got into an automobile furnished by the state, and together he and Governor Fisher started for the cemetery.

At the rostrum Governor Fisher presided. Judge Donald P. McPherson read Lincoln's memorable Gettysburg address. Following a brief address by President Hoover, Dr. John Aberly pronounced the benediction. Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson invoked the opening prayer after a selection from the 104th cavalry band.

Following the exercises President Hoover went to the home of Attorney and Mrs. John D. Keith, Carlisle street, where tea was served. Later in the afternoon the chief executive started for a visit to the estate of Jay Cooke III, near Williamsport, for some fishing and a rest.

OPA "CRACKS DOWN" TODAY ON CANNING SUGAR

Washington, June 1 (AP)—The OPA cracked down hard today on "chiseling of home canning sugar for other purposes."

"Some chiselers are stooping to falsify their applications in an effort to get 'sugar' that they know they won't use in canning," Price Administrator Chester Bowles said in a statement announcing a "drastic" program to put an end to this sugar racket.

Bowles said the sugar supply is sufficient for home canning requirements, "but there will not be enough if the chiseling x x x continues."

Must Sign Pledge
Under OPA's four-point program everyone applying for home canning sugar must sign this pledge:

"I agree that I will use the sugar applied for, for home canning purposes only. If, for any reason, I should not use it for canning, I will return the equivalent in sugar stamps to my local War Price and Rationing Board. I further agree that I will furnish a report to my board of the number of quarts of food canned with this sugar and the amount of sugar actually used in canning this food. I understand that my report will become a part of my record and will be considered in future issuance of home canning and other sugar rations to me."

Last year, Bowles asserted, many persons who had no intention of using sugar for canning applied for sugar for this purpose and in so doing "literally robbed our country of a substantial part of our limited sugar supply."

The same thing is happening again this year, he said, adding: "The home canning sugar racket must be stopped."

Disclose How Ship Fire Disaster Was Averted Last Summer

Philadelphia, June 1 (AP)—Disaster was narrowly averted last summer when Coast Guards fought for nearly an hour to extinguish a fire which raged on a munitions ship locked here, it was revealed yesterday.

A Coast Guard official, releasing a report withheld almost a year for wartime security reasons, said the ship was loaded with bombs and smaller ammunition shells. The fire started in a cargo of chemicals. Officials said if the fire had reached the ammunition cargo, the ship would have exploded and probably caused other ships berthed nearby to be blown up.

The Coast Guard report said "Coast Guardsmen hurrying to the blaze were knocked down and trampled by stampeding longshoremen fleeing the ship. One suffered a brain concussion."

"x x x They put out the fire after three-quarters of an hour. Some of the men collapsed, several were severely burned."

State To Discourage Competing Airports

Washington, June 1 (AP)—Construction of any new airports in competition with privately-owned facilities adequate to community needs will be discouraged in Pennsylvania.

William L. Anderson, executive director of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics commission, told a congressional committee yesterday the state's $3,725,000 biennial appropriation for airports, part of a 10-year program, is designed to place airports where they are needed.

Anderson was one of five spokesmen for the National Association of State Aviation Officials who opposed provisions of the LEA bill which would allow cities to deal directly with the federal government in the proposed airport plan.

Pennsylvania, he said, would share 50-50 with its communities in matching federal contributions.

He listed 141 licensed civilian airports in operation in Pennsylvania and said proposals have been made to extend or improve 95 and construct 148 new fields, thus "ultimately" giving the state 289.

Today's Talk
THE ROAD AHEAD
There is no turning back to life. No one has the moral right to close his door upon life. We must go on. We must never flinch. We must keep our eyes ahead—forward forever!

The easy thing is to sit tight, to let the other fellow go ahead and do the dirty and the unpleasant jobs. It's an endless procession to better and higher things, and if we are to share life's completeness, and thus fulfill God's purpose for us, then the road ahead is the only road that is open to us.

The greatest battle, yet to be fought and won, will not be the one that will declare this Second World War at an end, but the one that shall be published to all the world that we have won the battle against greed, poverty, injustice, and inequality. We shall have won the greatest war of all when all human beings, in all this war-torn world, shall have at long last been set free, to pursue their way toward full freedom and a decent happiness—working, worshipping, and thinking as free human beings.

And so this is the road ahead—a long, hard, and devious road—often to be perhaps bitter and discouraging—but the right, and only road possible for a triumphant destination.

As never before, we must look into our own hearts for self-examination, and to God for the guidance essential to giving us courage, humility and vision. It's one world now—not a big globe of populated human folk shut away from one another, with only selfish, individualistic and nationalistic desires and dreams. We have got to live together of even and equal terms, else perish together on no terms at all!

No human being can live wholly to himself and be happy, or even successful. Neither can a nation. But as each individual is different, in fact unique, so is every nation, but there is a common line of purpose running through all human desires and purposes, and it's the same with nations, races or communities. A common bond can happily unite all. To this end we must all be pledged, if we would realize the "new, brave world" about which so many have written and dreamed, as well as worked toward.

There is no room for idlers or drones on this road ahead. Only for those who are willing and who aspire—and whose souls are full of readiness!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Back to the Old Books."

Martin Says State 'Healthy' Financially

Harrisburg, June 1 (AP)—Announcing a $174,750,000 treasury surplus at start of a new fiscal period today, Governor Martin declared Pennsylvania "is in a very healthy financial condition and we expect to keep it that way by very careful expenditures."

Commonwealth books for the 1943-45 biennium were closed with a $111,750,000 balance in the state's general fund for normal governmental operations and $63,000,000 surplus in the motor license fund.

Governor Martin told reporters the size of the surplus is "mighty close" to previous budget estimates of a $170,000,000 balance—$110,000,000 in the general fund and nearly $60,000,000 in the motor fund.

He declared the unexpected funds will be used to add to the state's wealth by improvement to penal, mental and educational institutions, stream clearance and "more careful and modern methods relating to health."

These men can tell you why the 7TH WAR LOAN is the BIGGEST yet!

YOU ARE being asked to lend more money than ever before—in the 7th War Loan.

These men can tell you why.

They can tell you of giant ships ready to slide down the ways this year.

They can tell you of a whole new air force in the building—huge new bombers and fast new jet-propelled planes coming off the lines by thousands.

They could show you why it is cheaper and quicker to give our Pacific Forces entirely new equipment sometimes—instead of shipping tanks and guns from Europe.

They can, in short, show you 101 ways in which your dollars are needed more than ever to bring America's might to its full strength—so that we may crush our foe the faster, make an end of killing, and bring our men back home.

Will you tell these men "I can't afford to buy my share"?

THE GENERALS and admirals can show us why our money is needed—more money than before.

But other men can show us something, too.

They're the men with twisted, crippled limbs... with clever iron hooks instead of hands. The blind men... the men with scarred, seamed faces. And perhaps worst of all, the men with blasted, darkened minds.

They can show us, clearly, how small is any sacrifice we make in lending money.

If you have an income, whether from work, land, or capital, you have a quota in the 7th War Loan. Find out what that quota is—and make it!

HOPES BRIGHTEN FOR EARLY END OF CONFERENCE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER (AP Diplomatic News Editor)
San Francisco, June 1 (AP)—Prospects for settlement of the Franco-Syrian dispute combined with reports of improved American-Soviet relations today to brighten delegates' hopes for an early, successful windup of the United Nations Conference.

Forceful leadership by the big sponsoring powers is regarded among United States delegates as the means for shaking the Conference out of its lagging committee work and whipping the charter for a new league into final shape.

Many delegates are saying privately that the time for action to that end is at hand and the place to begin is among the Big Five. The United States sought agreement with British, Russian, Chinese and French spokesmen on half a dozen pending questions, and an early meeting of Secretary Stettinius with the other four delegation chiefs is expected.

Moscow Reaction Awaited
Moscow reaction to a proposed Big Five statement on the veto voting issue is due in a day or so. The statement is intended to reassure small nations that the big-power veto could not be used to prevent their getting at least a preliminary hearing before the prospective World Security Council. At the moment a Moscow answer is the key log in the work jam.

Many delegates are becoming increasingly restive under the pressure of urgent problems arising in their home capital. Foreign Minister Elco Van Kleffens intends to leave Saturday for the Netherlands and still other ranking officials may yet depart.

On the bright side are world political developments to which the Conference sensitivity reacts. It is reported that President Truman's special envoy to Moscow, Harry Hopkins, has had successful conferences with Marshal Stalin and other Soviet leaders, paving the way for much better relations between Moscow and Washington.

"Climate" Improving
One result may be to hasten the time of joint Allied occupation of Berlin and Austria in accordance with agreements made months ago but inexplicably held up after German defeat. Another may be to furnish a new approach to the Polish dispute to facilitate its settlement at the coming meeting of President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin.

On the levity crisis news that peace was being restored to the death-ridden streets of Damascus coupled with Anglo-American insistence on a free settlement of Franco-Syrian differences, rather than one made at gun-point, cheered small nation delegates. They have been worried over the future security of their own countries under a league controlled in the main by the big powers.

These developments tended to improve what diplomats are calling the "climate" on the Conference although they are not directly connected with it. What is directly involved, in the view of the American delegation, is the ability of the Big Five to win a greater degree of unity on remaining Conference problems.

Seeking Agreement
The Americans therefore are seeking agreement on plans for:
1. Future amendment of the charter and a decision on whether any one of the five powers should be able to veto an alteration.
2. Election of judges of a new international court.
3. Measures against erring league members and decision whether they should be subject to expulsion.
4. Election of a secretary-general who would be the league's chief executive officer.
5. Treaties by which military forces will be made available on the call of the security council.
6. Statements on equal access of all member nations to trade and raw materials and also on promotion of "full employment."

New Auto Repair Regulations Ordered

The Harrisburg District OPA office announced that local War Price and Rationing Boards are distributing a new automotive repair regulation to all automobile repair shops. The new regulation sets specific limits on the amount of time that automobile repair shops may charge for in figuring their prices for 56 common passenger car repair jobs.

Each repair shop is required to have a copy of the new regulation in its shop so that the time limits will be available for its customers' inspection. Customers also can get copies of the regulation from their local War Price and Rationing Board if they wish to have a copy for personal reference.

OPA announces that this action will check the practice, which is common in some repair shops, of charging customers for more hours of labor than are actually required to do the job.

FRENCH HOLD SYRIAN POSTS; "CEASE FIRE"

(By The Associated Press)
London, June 1 (AP)—France refused today to comply with Prime Minister Churchill's request that French troops in Syria retire to their barracks to avoid the possibility of clash with the British, but in a conciliatory move ordered her troops to "cease fire."

"French troops will remain in their positions," said a French communiqué issued in Paris after a cabinet meeting.

By ordering French troops to cease fire the French thus complied with half the request of Churchill, backed by President Truman to take steps to end the bloodshed.

In further steps to resolve the dispute that threatened to plunge the Arab world into revolt, it was disclosed that the United States had agreed to sit with other powers in the role of mediator.

London Conference
The British Foreign office announced that France had been invited to participate in a London conference with Britain and the United States to settle the issues involved in the Arab-supported demands of Syria and Lebanon for full independence and Allied insistence upon safeguards for their communications lines to the Pacific war areas.

Beirut dispatches said all was quiet in Syria and Lebanon after the French finally stopped their shelling and bombing of Damascus. Syrian capital, and that small-arm fire had ceased. At least 400 persons had been killed and 500 wounded.

The British commander in the Middle East, Gen. Sir Bernard C. Paget flew to Beyrouth this morning in a bomber escorted by Spitfires. British destroyers swung at anchor in Beyrouth harbor.

British troops, tanks and vehicles moved along the main roads toward Damascus yesterday following Prime Minister Churchill's orders to intervene.

Beirut dispatches said the French commander in Syria had agreed in a conference with the British commander to cease fire, as Prime Minister Churchill had demanded, and also to take orders from the British.

"Conciliatory Spirit"
Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden informed the House of Commons that the French in Syria had been ordered by Paris not to oppose British efforts to restore order.

A French spokesman in Paris said the local French commander had been instructed to deal with the situation as he saw fit and in a "conciliatory spirit."

A British Foreign office spokesman, announcing that France had been invited to confer in London, said the United States had agreed to take part in the conference.

Scranton Strikers Are Ordered To Work

Philadelphia, June 1 (AP)—Striking employees of the Scranton Transit company have been ordered by the Third Regional War Labor Board to return to work "by the time of the first run Saturday."

The RWLB order was telegraphed to officials of Local 168, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, AFL, yesterday.

The RWLB's directive also said if the employees now in their 12th day of work stoppage, do not end the walkout by Saturday "your dispute will be referred to the National War Labor Board for appropriate action."

Child's Body Found In River By Searchers

Millville, N. J., June 1 (AP)—The body of four-year-old Raymond "Sonny" Longenecker, Jr., was found Thursday in the Maurice river after more than 100 volunteers grappled in the river all night under floodlights.

The boy was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Longenecker, Sr., of Millville, who moved here several years ago from Lancaster, Pa.

Police said the body was found about eight feet from the spot where "Sonny" was reported to have fallen into the water yesterday. Three companions with whom "Sonny" was playing on a river wharf told police that he lost his balance while tossing stones into the water, and fell in. The other boys ran home and reported the accident to their families, who notified authorities.

Skeleton Identified By Missing Watch

Cochran, Pa., June 1 (AP)—Crawford county coroner, Luther J. King said today a human skeleton found by fishermen on a small island south of here has been tentatively identified as that of John Jerome Morley, missing since Dec. 19, 1941.

Mrs. Rose Morley, of Northeast, Pa., wife of the missing man, identified a watch found under the skeleton as one belonging to Morley.

King said the body apparently had washed ashore from French creek.

GAS REVENUE MAY CUT TAX

Harrisburg, June 1 (AP)—Allotment of $17,000,000 of revenues from the state's one-cent emergency tax on gasoline to municipalities for road purposes today opened the way for reductions in real estate taxes.

Governor Martin signed into law the Wood bill continuing the tax for two more years and appropriating $17,000,000 of its receipts to local governments only two days before the levy would have lapsed automatically at the end of the Commonwealth's fiscal year. First enacted for relief, the tax brought in $22,500,000 in the current biennium.

"For the first time cities, boroughs and first class townships will share in the distribution of this fund," declared the governor in approving the measure. "This should result in a reduction of real estate taxes."

The measure provides second class townships will receive $8,500,000 in the next biennium on a mileage basis with an equal sum going to other municipalities. All remaining receipts from the levy will be retained by the highway department.

The governor at the same time approved a bill authorizing the assembly's joint state government (research) commission to make an exhaustive study of the financing of highways in Pennsylvania, both by the state and local governments. A $50,000 fund for the inquiry was provided.

Jap Navy Shakeup Led To Suicide Plan

San Francisco, June 1 (AP)—The recent shakeup of the Japanese Navy High Command was designed to prepare all branches of the Imperial Navy for "special attack (suicide) tactics," a Tokyo radio commentator said Thursday.

"The strategy that Japan must naturally take is to launch her special attack tactics" in the face of overwhelming American power closing in on Nippon, Kusuo Oya told Pa., wife of the missing man, identified a watch found under the skeleton as one belonging to Morley.

In the last week suicide pilots of the Kamikaze air corps attacking U. S. shipping in Okinawa waters, 325 miles south of Japan, have sunk one light American Naval unit and damaged 26 others.

Move To Carry Out New School Measure

Harrisburg, June 1 (AP)—The Department of Public Instruction took the first steps Thursday to put into effect the Commonwealth's new $127,000,000 plan to equalize educational opportunity in Pennsylvania. The new system, signed into law by Governor Martin, bases state aid payments to 2,546 school districts on the twin factors of local ability to support education and the number of pupils enrolled for the first time. First subsidies under it will be paid in 1946-47.

Hailed by Martin as the biggest educational advance in a century, the new law also makes permanent cost-of-living salary boosts for teachers, up pay of those in third and fourth class districts $100 annually next year and establishes the highest mandated salary level for teachers in the nation.

Payment of subsidies on the old basis of the number of teachers employed will continue for the 1945-46 school year, a spokesman of the department of public instruction declaring "that is necessary to give us time to make the change."

BRITISH-FRENCH SPLIT IMPENDS

Paris, May 31 (AP)—The current crisis in Syria and Lebanon holds the potentiality of bringing France into direct collision with Britain, a responsible French source declared Thursday as the French cabinet met in emergency session to study the situation.

The French no longer hide the belief that the situation in Lebanon and Syria was "artificially created" and declare that if pressed they can produce documentary evidence to prove it.

It seemed obvious that the French were in no mood to modify their stand, and the Syrians seemed equally determined not to give in. Government quarters said France still insisted the dispute should be settled directly, and that mediation would be unwelcome.

There probably will be no French government statement officially until after the cabinet meeting.

The Syrian minister to France said he had been in consultation with U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery and expressed the opinion that the crisis could be resolved only through intervention. The American embassy declined comment.

Transit Strikers Ordered To Work

Philadelphia, June 1 (AP)—Immediate return to work of the four hundred striking employees of the Scranton Transit company was ordered by unanimous action of the third regional War Labor Board Wednesday.

June—Lawn, Garden And Farm

1. Give the lawn another feeding of complete fertilizer, two pounds to 100 square feet and water it into the soil at once.
2. Set out well rooted pepper plants and eggplants within the next few days.
3. Always cook green, succulent vegetables in as little water as possible and use the cooking water.
4. Keep close watch for the Mexican bean beetle and combat it with a cryolite dust until pods form; then use rotenone.
5. Field beans should be planted within the next week to 10 days. Choose land relatively free from weeds.
6. Dahlias should be planted within the first week of June if soil and weather conditions have prevented earlier planting.
7. Make a final planting of pole Lima beans. Bush varieties may be planted safely for two weeks yet.
8. Soak the soil thoroughly around newly planted evergreens whenever rain is lacking.
9. All early flowering shrubs should be pruned before the middle of June. Late flowering sorts are pruned in late winter.
10. Do not plant vegetables except when necessary. Many of the most valuable nutrients are in or immediately beneath the skin.
11. Sow rutabaga seed within the next week to ten days. This fine vegetable requires more time for maturing than turnips.
12. Shun the "sprinkling" habit in lawn care. If grass needs moisture, supply it by a thorough soaking once or twice a week.
13. Permit daffodils, hyacinths, peonies, crocuses and other bulbous and tuberous rooted plants to mature their tops fully.
14. This is near the final safe planting date for the larger sorts of winter squashes, such as the favorite Hubbards.
15. Make additional plantings of snap beans, sweet corn, beets, peas, lettuce, carrots and radishes.
16. Combat the green cabbage worm with cryolite dust until heads begin to form, then use rotenone.
17. Yellow-fleshed fruits and vegetables are richer in vitamin A than white varieties of the same crops.
18. Much tomatoes with vegetation to curb blossom-end rot.
19. Tomorrow is the latest safe date to set out well rooted tomato plants for the main late crop.
20. Do not punish broody hens; keep them in a well ventilated coop and feed and water liberally.
21. Srew a band of air-slaked lime around beds attacked by slugs and snails.
22. Pinch back the longer new canes of blackberries and black raspberries to promote compact, bushy plants for next year.
23. Sow seed today for the late

24. Do not discard the tender tops of beets. Here is one of the best and most nourishing greens crop, too valuable to waste.
25. Cull out and sell hens which cease laying first. All-summer egg production is evidence of a layer worth keeping.
26. Cease cutting asparagus from established beds within the next week and give the bed a feeding of well rotted manure.
27. Rhubarb, like asparagus, needs a late summer rest. Therefore, do not harvest stalks after late June and feed the clumps liberally with manure and complete fertilizer.
28. Place traps as soon as the first Japanese beetles arrive. Write the editor for advice on protecting special plants and crops.
29. Continue war on weeds and add all such green material to the compost heap.
30. Make a final planting of cucumbers today for an abundant late crop for canning. Wage relentless war on the striped beetle.

Leaves From

Diary Of War

Correspondent

By GEORGE TUCKER (Substituting For Hal Boyle)

Paris (AP)—Alsation kids who were caught up in the war had a worse time of it than most of the French. They were impressed into the German army by the thousands as soon as they came of age and many fled and led gypsy lives living in the cities and towns and hiding from hand to mouth to keep from fighting for the Germans.

Let me show you briefly what the war meant to just one of those Alsations.

He lived at Strasbourg and he was married and he had a little girl, eight years old. Rather than join the German army he disappeared, taking his wife and daughter with him.

They hid in a little town about 50 miles from Strasbourg. One day Allied bombers came over and after they left a lot of people were dead including his wife.

"Now I Feel Better"

There were no carpenters and there was no lumber available but poking around through the ruins of the house he found an old table. He got a hammer and some nails somewhere, knocked the table to pieces and built a rude coffin for his wife's body.

When it was ready some of the neighbors volunteered to help him dig a grave but the bombers came back again and the neighbors fled, leaving him to bury his wife alone.

The weeks went by. The Ameri-cans rolled over the land. When they had passed he went to an American captain and told him that he wanted to take his wife's body and his little girl back to Strasbourg.

The Germans began to shell the town again and his friends fled once more, leaving him alone with his daughter.

They stood there a moment, and then they walked out to the cart which held the box and the man caught the reins in one hand and led the cart to the cemetery. There, unaided and alone except for the child, the man dug a new grave.

"Now," he said, when his wife was at rest on the family plot, "I feel better."

Light Military

Vote Is Indicated

Harrisburg, June 1 (AP)—Reports of light requests for military ballots indicate not more than 70,000 members of the armed forces will vote in the June 19 primaries, Deputy Secretary Samuel M. Jackson of the State Department said today.

Approximately 1,500 requests for ballots received by the Elections Bureau were forwarded to counties which issue absentee ballots.

THAT'S BETTER

Tonopah, Nev., (AP)—When several days went by without action on his request for a furlough M. Sgt. Otto Vanek, of Berwyn, Ill., took the matter up with the personnel office of the Tonopah Army Air field. "We tore that up," a clerk told the sergeant. Then noting his dismayed look the clerk added: "Your overseas service makes you eligible for a discharge. We're going to send you on a permanent furlough."

Chapter 14

Kay glanced at Lucia and was astonished at the expression in her black eyes. Watchful. Expectant. Daring her to disagree. Disappointed that she didn't. Kay felt a cold sea wash over her, leaving a shivering weakness. Why did Lucia hate her? What did she really want here?

"Well," Kay began casually, forcing a smile. "I've never settled down to keeping the house and grounds. It's nice that you like to do these things. Lucia, I'll get around to my room sometime." But she knew that she was never going to change Katherine's room. Neither was Lucia, she resolved anew.

Lucia's eyes became unfathomable as Kay met her gaze with her own direct look; and she felt a small triumph that she hadn't let the older woman see her heartbreak.

"Well, make it soon. The house will look odd, all new and modern with only one room filled with dreadful old furniture." Was there a shade of disappointment in Lucia's perfect voice?

"There's a lot Lucia wants done," Francis approved. "Kay, you might see to the storing of the old furniture in the attic. Lucia can't do everything. She isn't strong."

"I'd be grateful for just a little help," Lucia's tone was plaintive. Francis turned to Kay. "We must plan a party for Lucia," he reminded her. "I want to show her off—to have everyone see her."

"How nice, Daddy," Kay replied. "Well, let me see. How about a dinner party here for our close friends—since Lucia has things all fixed up?"

"Oh, no, please," Lucia interrupted. "That wouldn't be at all amusing. Make it a dance at the club house. Then we can have everyone, my friends in Atlanta—and your friends, too. Or do you have to invite them?"

Kay stared at her. "Well, naturally," she said, surprised, "since Lowell is the mill. After all, you know, that's our daily bread."

Lucia turned to Francis with a gracious appeal in her manner. "Forgive me, darling," she begged. "I just can't seem to mention Lowell activities—without antagonizing Kay."

Kay was positive now that Lucia wanted to be antagonized, so she said hastily. "I love big parties. Francis, you know that. Let's give Lucia one that she will never forget. When do you want it, Lucia?"

Lucia calmly suggested Thanksgiving night. But as Kay excused herself from the table she felt that all Lucia's calm had been on the surface, that underneath she was baffled and disappointed that she, Kay, had shown no opposition to her plans.

Thanksgiving night was as glamorous as Lucia herself. There was no moon, but a million stars were scattered over the sky like diamonds. The air was clear and cold and the clubhouse was a maze of brilliant lights.

Inside there was laughter and warmth. Dark evergreens and tall

Will Observe June As Dairy Month

Harrisburg, June 1 (AP)—Pennsylvania's milk production this year may exceed 600,000,000 gallons for an all-time record, Miles Horst, state Secretary of Agriculture, said today in calling attention to observance nationally of June as dairy month.

Horst said that since 1940 the Commonwealth's dairy industry has "greatly expanded" and the number of milk cows on state farms increased 73,000, a gain of over eight per cent.

One-third of the 1944 half-billion dollar Pennsylvania farm income was from dairy products, Horst declared.

In a similar statement, Governor Martin said it was fitting that Pennsylvania "pay tribute to and publicly recognize the efforts of our dairy farmers and dairy processors as being vital to total victory in the fight for freedom and our way of life."

Services of more than 40 skilled trades are required to build a laboratory ship.

She was the center of attraction, as she had intended to be. She knew all these people were eager to see the woman who had taken Katherine Lambert's place in the old house on the hill. There were her own friends from Atlanta who drank more liquor and danced more daringly than the conservative crowd who usually came to the clubhouse dances.

Kay danced by, lovely in her bronze gown, Jimmy's indolent eyes were on her upturned face. Lucia disliked Kay more than ever at this moment; the girl could marry Jimmy Brent any moment she wished, and yet she casually refused him.

"Well, Miss Kay," Lucia said to herself. "You may marry him yet, whether you want to or not. Because I want the Lambert home and the Lambert home and I want them in my own name." At the thought she smiled across her partner's shoulder.

Jimmy was in the stag line now and seeing her smile, he hastened to her side.

"What is this?" she asked, looking up at him as he cut in. "A rush?"

"Call it what you like so long as I get this dance." His eyes moved boldly over her face and throat.

She thought, with a thrill of pleasure: His eyes are like Gilbert's. He and I speak the same language. Aloud she said, "You'd better run along back to Kay. Making any progress there?"

He looked at Kay across the room; saw her beauty, enhanced by her golden gown and the purple violets at her shoulder. She was gay and casual as she danced. Jimmy turned again to Lucia and said, "Kay doesn't know I'm in the room."

Again that feeling of resentment against Kay clutched Lucia. She said, an acid note creeping into her voice, "Keep on trying. I'm on your side."

"Why should I try," he wanted to know, "when I'm dancing with you?"

Her eyes swept up, amused. "You know all the answers don't you?"

"If I don't I'll bet you could teach me the others!"

Will You Help?

Washington, June 1 (AP)—A War Bond statement from Vice Admiral William Ward Smith, commander service force, United States Pacific fleet:

"To keep the fighting ships geared for action, the service force of the Pacific fleet expends millions of dollars in supplies and equipment daily. To help offset this tremendous financial outlay, the support of every American in the 7th War Loan is needed."

May Bolster Strip Coal Mining Bill

Harrisburg, June 1 (AP)—Future sessions of the general assembly may be called on to strengthen Pennsylvania's new strip coal mining law and to extend state control to anthracite fields.

A short time after he signed the Dent-Thomas bill regulating surface mining in the bituminous region, Governor Martin yesterday told newsmen:

"Since my travels on speaking engagements during the past month I am more convinced than ever on the importance of strip mining legislation.

"It may be necessary for future legislatures to strengthen the act. The manner in which farm land has been destroyed is most regretful."

Lord Haw Haw Is Citizen Of Germany

Lueneburg, Germany, June 1 (AP)—A senior intelligence officer of the British Second Army said today it had been established that American-born William Joyce (Lord Haw Haw) became a national of Germany in 1940.

(Speculation in London following the seizure of the Berlin radio propaganda center centered about whether he would claim to be a German national, thus liable to charges of being a war criminal rather than a traitor.)

No charge has been lodged against Joyce who is being held in custody for military security reasons.

FERRISS WINS 7TH STRAIGHT; MUELLER STARS

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

If Dave Ferriss and Les Mueller are fair samples, the GI athlete with big league ambitions is headed in the right direction.

Ferriss, a two-year veteran of the Army Air Corps, is the only unbeaten pitcher in either league with more than three decisions. In circling the American league for the first time, the Boston Red Sox freshman has wheeled to seven straight victories, at least one over each team except Washington, and he hasn't faced the Senators yet.

Throwing hard with his right hand isn't Ferriss' only accomplishment. His .444 batting average is best in either league and he is used as a pinch-hitter almost every day. In 63 innings of pitching, the ex-serviceman has allowed only five runs and 36 hits and boasts four shutouts, one more than Detroit's Al Benton.

Cleveland was Ferriss' latest victim yesterday when he threw a five-hitter at the Tribe to coast home 6-2 behind an 11-hit attack, including two of his own singles. The win hoisted the Red Sox into fifth place, jumping two pegs.

Given Two Hits

Mueller's case is different because he was later getting started and didn't graduate into a starting role until yesterday, but his debut was as sensational as Ferriss'. Opposing New York in the second Yankee stadium twilight tilt before 5,300 fans, the Detroit right-hander blanked the Yankees, 2-0, with two singles.

Four years ago Mueller was a Tiger rookie but he joined the Army in the spring of 1942 and had worked on relief only three times since receiving his honorable discharge last fall. Off his performance in the stadium, Manager Steve O'Neill is counting on the giant-sized vet to take up the slack in the Detroit staff caused by the loss through a broken leg of ex-sailor Al Benton.

Mueller pulled the Tigers to within one game of the leading Yanks in a day that found seven teams changing positions.

Brooklyn went into second place in the National by topping Pittsburgh in 13 innings, 6-4, on Goody Rosen's triple that doomed Nick Strincevich. Reliever Clyde King received credit for his first victory.

The St. Louis Cards climbed into the first division, passing Chicago, by slugging the Boston Braves, 9-4, as Jack Creel teetered through on a 10-hit pitching job.

Walter "Boom Boom" Beck lowered the boom on the Phillies, 8-1, to give Cincinnati a clean sweep of the three-game set. New York and Chicago were rained out.

Washington dropped below Cleveland into seventh spot by bowing to the St. Louis Browns, 5-2. One four-run inning on Mickey Haeftel did the trick for the Browns.

Bobby Estalella's eighth inning single gave Philadelphia a 3-2 edge over the Chicago White Sox but the A's lost the services of pitcher Don Black who wrenched his back in a collision with umpire Cal Hubbard. Black will be lost for several days to further weaken Connie Mack's depleted mound staff.

Lancaster Rallies To Upset York 14-4

(By The Associated Press)

The Lancaster Red Roses, trailing 4-0 in the sixth inning, rallied and handed the York White Roses a 14-4 defeat in an interstate league game at York last night.

Lancaster scored eight runs in the sixth inning uprising.

Hagerstown dropped the final game of its series with Wilmington by lopsided score of 11-3. The Blue Rocks jumped on the offerings of Fran Maloney and Duke Anderson for a total of 13 hits.

Eddie Volan led the Wilmington attack with four hits out of five times at bat, two of them being triples. Volan also scored four runs and batted in two. Bill Scally led the Owls' attack with three hits.

Jim McCloskey, a Jersey City semi-pro pitcher, now working in a Philadelphia defense plant, made his debut with Trenton at Allentown last night and pitched the Spertans to a 3-2 decision over the Allentown Redbirds.

Remind Sportsmen Of Game Reports

Harrisburg, June 1 (AP)—The Game Association reminded sportsmen today they are still required to file game-kill reports for the 1944 season.

"The act of General Assembly repealing that section of the game law making it mandatory to file game-kill reports," a commission statement said, "will become effective on September 1. An effort is now being made to finish up last season's business for which 75.5 per cent of the licensees filed their reports early."

Reminder notices are being mailed to negligent hunters and the commission said those who respond will not be subject to a $2 penalty.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 1 (AP)—A survey conducted by Eppie Barnes, Colgate coach, shows that only 242 of the 682 American colleges list baseball as an official sport. . . . And the 242 include those which let the national game drop during wartime and those which have only intra-mural competition. . . . That's the big reason why Eppie and Penn State's Joe Bedenken have called a "revival meeting" of college coaches for the end of this month to see what they can do for the game. . . . And just by way of contrast, North Carolina wound up its spring football drills the other day with an intra-squad game for which two bits admission was charged. . . . And no cracks, please, about two-bit players.

PICK UP THE MARBLES

Orrin Benson, of Eagle, Wisconsin, a professional handler of field trial dogs, manages to make out all right in spite of the shortages of ammunition and red points. . . . During the preparations for the recent trials at Fargo, N. D., a hen pheasant escaped and took refuge in a clump of trees. . . . Benson, who was exercising his dogs, told them to sit, pulled out a slingshot and a handful of marbles and went hunting. . . . Eventually he hit the mark—the pheasant's head—and came home with something for dinner.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

DeWitt Coulter, the big Texan who still holds the interscholastic shot put record, isn't interested in track and field competition at West Point. He'd rather play football all the time. . . . Jersey Jones, former sports publisher and fight manager, is back from "exile" in Baltimore and is working on Broadway for a movie company. . . . William Hells, who has the longest list of Derby entries, won't have a starter in the big race June 9. . . . Jack Palozzo, rookie second baseman for the New York Yankees, was pitcher on the Brooklyn amateur team but switched because "the team made so many errors behind me I decided to play the infield myself."

FREED SOLDIER MARKS BIRTHDAY HERE MONDAY

Sgt. Richard M. Redding, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Redding, of Gettysburg, who was liberated April 27 as a prisoner of the Germans, arrived home Friday on a 60-day leave.

Sgt. Redding, who observed his 22nd birthday anniversary Monday, was taken prisoner Jan. 22, 1944, when his infantry outfit became surrounded while attacking the Gustav line at Cassino, Italy.

Loaded on box cars, about 60 to a car which barely allowed them to sit down, the prisoners were taken first to a camp above Rome and from there to Stalag III-B, Nazi prison camp at Furstenberg, Germany.

Treatment at the camp was fairly good, according to S. Sgt. Redding, who stated the food wasn't too good but prisoners were given about the same rations as the German people. The Germans provided medical treatment to the best of their limited means.

Camp Entertainment

Card playing and sports provided most of the entertainment for the prisoners, Redding revealed. He stated that the Germans permitted classes to be held for the prisoners and courses in salesmanship, shorthand, Latin, algebra and world affairs were offered.

As a non-commissioned officer Redding was able to forego working. He asserted that work required of others was not too strenuous. Usually when a prisoner was found to be lagging at his work he was confined to quarters for several days.

Mail service was fairly good at the camp, said Sgt. Redding, but during his 17 months at the camp he received but 34 letters.

While at Stalag III-B, S. Sgt. Redding met a soldier from Biglerville whose name he could not definitely remember but is believed to be Pfc. Otis E. Logan, Biglerville, who has also been liberated as a prisoner.

Advance Brings Freedom

The advance of the American and Russian armies is credited by Sgt. Redding for the voluntary release of a group of prisoners from the camp. On April 27 the Germans, who had intended marching their prisoners to the Baltic sea, found their communication lines disrupted by the advance of the Allies and decided to liberate the prisoners. They were marched to the Elbe river where their captors left them, allowing the prisoners to join up with the Allied troops.

Redding entered the service on March 6, 1943, and trained at Ft. McClellan, Ala. He went overseas August 19, 1943, going first to Africa before landing in Italy. He was wounded December 9, 1943, in the face. An injured foot received while a prisoner causes him to limp at present.

Upon joining up with American troops, Redding said he was amazed to learn of the new type equipment and changes in army technique.

Two brothers of Sgt. Redding are in the service. S. Sgt. Henry is serving overseas with a medical transportation corps and S. 2/C William is now home on a short leave from Navy duty.

SILVER STAR FOR COUNTY SOLDIER

Mrs. Mary Bowers, Gettysburg R. 1, has received the Silver Star medal which was awarded to her son, Sgt. Paul W. Bowers, who was wounded in action March 24 in Germany. His left leg was broken in two places while in combat with the First Army. He now is in a hospital in England.

The citation that accompanied the medal reads as follows: "For gallantry in action in the vicinity of Aachen, Germany, 23 September, 1944."

"When several members of his platoon were seriously wounded by enemy artillery fire, Corporal Bowers unhesitatingly left a position of comparative safety and went to the victims' rescue."

"Crossing barren terrain under incessant bombardment, he administered first aid and carried the helpless men to a sheltered area where medical assistance was available. Corporal Bowers' extraordinary courage and loyalty prevented heavy loss of life."

Sgt. Bowers, who is 22 years old, had been awarded the Purple Heart last November after being wounded in action in Germany. That time he was hospitalized in Belgium and later removed to Paris. He served in the Infantry and has been in the service since January, 1943. He went overseas two years ago and crossed the channel on D-Day. He has two brothers in the army, both of whom served in Europe.

THRONGS SEE ANNUAL PARADE MEMORIAL DAY

The annual parade, starting from Mende school on Buford avenue and passing through thronged streets to the National Cemetery where people assembled from throughout the borough, county and nation, marked Gettysburg's tribute to the fallen heroes of the country on Memorial Day.

Led by Marshal LeRoy H. Winebrenner and the Gettysburg high school band, followed by school children bearing flowers to strew upon the graves of martyrs of war, the procession formed a stately cortege of honor through the flag and bunting decked town under bright and smiling skies.

Trim young Boy Scouts in khaki, from Troops 73, 77, 78, 79 and 80 of Gettysburg and Adams county stepped smartly along followed by their sisters of the Cardinal and Caroline Codori troops in their neat green uniforms. Then came the girl reserves in white dresses set off by scarves of bright blue.

Veteran In Line

Guards from the Gettysburg and Pine Grove Prisoner of War Camps of the Third Service command, most of them veterans of service and combat overseas, formed the next unit of the procession in homage to the fallen defenders of American liberty. Then came the Scotland School band smartly garbed in dark blue uniforms with gold chevrons and gold trimmed shakos directly ahead of Gettysburg's Troop C of the First Cavalry squadron of the Pennsylvania State Guard, impressive with their new mechanized equipment—motorcycles, scout cars and trucks representing American preparedness for civilian defense.

Heroes of another war, veterans of the Spanish American conflict in full uniform followed with the blue-uniformed Wayne band of Waynesboro immediately afterward.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, led by a color guard of veterans of overseas service during the present conflict marched after the massed colors of the American Legion and the United Spanish War Veterans. Senator Taft, speaker of the day, and other guests, rode in an open automobile. Bursts of applause greeted the Senator.

Wounded Veteran Home On Furlough

Franklin R. Gruver, USA, East Berlin R. 3, who has been a patient at an army hospital in Atlantic City, N. J., for some time after returning to the U. S., is spending a 30-day furlough with his wife, Mrs. Emma Zepp Gruver, and their daughter, Mary, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gruver.

The young man had been hospitalized in Europe for some time following a severe head wound suffered in action in Germany during the past winter. He has undergone two operations to remove shell fragments from his skull, and is much improved.

1ST HONOR STUDENT

Jay Emlen Hamlin, son of Mrs. Maxwell Barach, Fairfield R. 1, was announced as the first honor man in the eighth grade at the annual commencement exercises held at Mercersburg academy Monday. Dr. Charles S. Tippetts, headmaster of the academy, distributed the prizes and diplomas.

FRENCH AWARD WAR CROSS TO CORPORAL FOX

With the Fourth Armored Division (By Mail)—Cited by the French government for "exceptionally meritorious service in the liberation of France," Corporal Lewis H. Fox, 31, of Littlestown, has been awarded the Croix de Guerre with Bronze Star. He is a member of the Fourth Armored Division's 66th Armored Field Artillery Battalion.

The Fourth Armored's record shows a leading role in the Normandy breakthrough, cutting off the Brittany peninsula, a lightning sweep east across France north of the Loire river, making and defending the Moselle bridgehead, and the first crossing of the Sarre.

It was the Fourth Armored Division, as part of General Patton's Third Army, that broke into the Belgian Bulge, effecting the historic relief of the besieged 101st Airborne Division at Bastogne last Christmas.

Husband of Mrs. Rebecca Fox, 502 South Queen street, Littlestown, Pa. Fox also holds the Silver Star Medal, awarded for gallantry in action; Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service, and the Purple Heart Medal for wounds received in combat.

MISSING RADIO GUNNER FREED FROM GERMANY

The young man's father, Claude E. Wagaman, McSherrystown, Saturday morning received a letter written by his son in France. He described himself as an "ex-prisoner of war."

The letter was addressed to the boy's parents, he not being aware of the death of his mother, Mrs. Grace Lawrence Wagaman. Mrs. Wagaman was fatally stricken on April 8, a short time after reading the War Department message in which it was revealed that her son was missing. Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, said death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage, apparently the result of the shock of the telegram.

Is Coming Home

In his letter received Saturday morning, T. Sgt. Wagaman wrote: "Dear Folks:

"I don't know whether you know it or not but I am now an ex-prisoner of war. I hope you didn't worry about me too much, because I was really okay all the time. I am feeling fine right now and I'll be coming home soon. I've been sitting here at a camp in France for one week now waiting for a boat and God only knows how much longer I'll wait."

"Well, I guess you were pretty happy to hear that the war ended over here, but I guess we were all pretty well overjoyed. Don't forget to let everyone know that I'm okay. I wanted to get home for high school graduation but that looks out of the question now. I sure wish I could beat this letter home but if I don't, say a prayer that I arrive soon after it does. Take care of yourselves and I'll see you soon."

Your loving son, Donnie."

Saturday's message was the first Mr. Wagaman had received from his son since he was reported missing. Friday, Mr. Wagaman received a letter from the pilot of the plane aboard which T. Sgt. Wagaman served. The pilot wrote that he had been in a prison camp with Donald Wagaman and that Donald was well at the time they were separated. This was the first indication Mr. Wagaman had had of the fate of his son.

T. Sgt. Wagaman was graduated from Delone Catholic high school, McSherrystown, in 1943. He trained in the States for about a year before going overseas in January of this year.

SETS RECORD FOR SERVICE IN S. PACIFIC

Master Sergeant George E. Hollabaugh, a crew chief with the famed Lone Ranger Bombardment group who has been in the service for four years sent a copy of a mimeographed "Combat History of The Lone Rangers" to his parents.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hollabaugh of Biglerville, Sgt. Hollabaugh wears five battle stars and has served three years and two months in the south Pacific. This is believed to be the longest period of duty in the south Pacific for service men from Adams county.

The mimeographed sheet which Sgt. Hollabaugh sent to his parents was a souvenir copy of the program given at an army theatre in the south Pacific commemorating the 30th Bomb Group's second year of combat activity in the south and southwest Pacific, Feb. 13, 1945.

Few Rest Periods

During those two years of combat flying, stretching from Hawaii across the vast reaches of the Pacific, the long hours of combat and operational flying were marked by infrequent and scattered rest periods in New Zealand and Australia. Sgt. Hollabaugh was with his outfit from the start.

"Two years ago today," the combat log reads, "six B-24's raided Shortland harbor. Fifty per cent of our planes did not return to Henderson Field (Guadalcanal) from first mission in the South Pacific Area." A month and a half before the Lone Rangers had raided Wake island from Midway, the longest bomber formation mission up to that time.

From Guadalcanal Sgt. Hollabaugh's outfit struck at Munda, Kahlil, Rabaul and Truk. "Day after day we hit airdromes on the Bismark Archipelago, pulverized the town of Rabaul. Ack ack batteries were wicked. Barrages holed plane after plane."

"Then came Truk. The unknown, unhitt Japanese Pearl Harbor. On the first attempt we dropped our eggs on some island. S-2 (Intelligence) couldn't find that island. It wasn't on the map."

"The next raid we found Truk. Every bomb hit the target," the log continued.

Tons of Shipping

"We destroyed 49 planes on the ground. 31 were shot down in the hottest air battles of its kind in the Pacific." Truk was hit day after day until the Lone Ranger called it a "milk run."

Later came Balikpapan in Borneo which the men called the "Ploesti of the Pacific," where they left columns of smoke thousands of feet high towering above the great oil refineries. Between times there was Yap, Palau, Biak, Woleai, Halmahera, Tarawa, and afterward the Philippines, and the liberation of many Americans and loyal Filipinos.

During those two years the Lone Rangers struck anything "from a barge to a task force." They shot down 482 enemy planes, 86 probables and damaged 51 more. On the ground they destroyed 169 planes, sank 17,275 and damaged 106,615 tons of shipping and dropped 13,300 tons of bombs.

AIR MEDAL TO LOCAL AVIATOR

15th AAF in Italy, (By Mail)—1st Lt. Lyman E. Hawbaker, 22 son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Hawbaker, Gettysburg R. 1, recently flew his 35th long range combat mission as navigator on a 15th Air Force B-17 Flying Fortress, in the 416th Squadron of the veteran 99th Bombardment Group, in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations.

Lt. Hawbaker began combat flying in the 15th Air Force with an attack on the highly important oil storage facilities at Regensburg, Germany. He has bombed other targets in Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, and Northern Italy. He has been awarded the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf clusters and also wears the European-African-Middle Eastern theater ribbon with two battle stars. On his 35th mission he participated in an attack on the rail yard at Vipiteno, Italy.

The lieutenant is a graduate of Gettysburg high school and attended Gettysburg college before entering the army February 18, 1943. He was commissioned 2nd Lt. upon completion of navigation training at Hondo Field, Texas, June 10, 1944.

PROMOTED TO CORPORAL

C. W. M'KENRICK KILLED IN CEBU IN PHILIPPINES

Pfc. Charles William McKenrick, 30, youngest son of Leon McKenrick, Buchanan Valley, was killed in action April 4 on Cebu island in the Philippine group, his wife, the former Rebecca Jones, of Fayetteville, was notified by War Department telegram.

A veteran of nearly a year and a half of overseas service, Pfc. McKenrick had written March 10 that he spent his thirtieth birthday anniversary on February 28 "hunting Japs." He had been in the Philippines since February of this year but had seen previous combat duty in the New Guinea area.

The county soldier had entered service August 18, 1943, and trained at Camp Panin, Texas. After a furlough home, he reported at Camp Ord, Calif., and went overseas in January or February of last year. He had written his family last year that he had been "injured" in action but said he had not been wounded. He returned to action after having been hospitalized for a number of weeks.

Surviving besides his father and widow are these brothers and sisters: Mrs. William Knouse, Francis McKenrick, at home, and Mrs. Joseph Brennan, all of Buchanan Valley.

Before entering service, McKenrick worked at the Letterkenny ordnance depot at Chambersburg and prior to that had worked in a war plant at Waynesboro. He was a graduate of Strausbaugh's school in Buchanan Valley.

FREEDOM MEDAL IS AWARDED TO COUNTY SOLDIER

With the 32nd Division, Pangasinan Province, Luzon, P. I., (By Mail)—Major General William H. Gill, commander of the 32nd (Red Arrow) Division, announces that the Commonwealth Government of the Philippines has awarded the Philippine Liberation Medal to Corporal Ray Black, of Aspers, Pa.

Cpl. Black entered the army in August, 1942, and left for overseas duty in January, 1943. Assigned to the 32nd Division, he saw his first combat action when the 126th Infantry made its highly successful landing at Salor, New Guinea, cutting off the Japs at Lae and Finchaven. He participated in the succeeding amphibious operation farther up the coast, where the division trapped the enemy garrisons at Madang and Wewak by destroying his forces at Aitape. The next Jap base to receive the "Red Arrow" treatment was the island of Morotai in the Netherlands East Indies. The 32nd silenced that important listening post and isolated the Japs on nearby Halmahera, thus opening the road to the Philippines.

Smashing Jap Line

On bloody Leyte island, Cpl. Black was in the final drive down the Ormoc corridor when the "Red Arrow" cracked the "invincible" Yamashita line. He is now fighting among the mile-high peaks of the Caraballo mountains in northern Luzon, where the battle-scarred 32nd veterans are engaged in destroying General Yamashita's final last ditch defenses along the tortuous Villa Verde trail, the 32nd's own Baby Burma road.

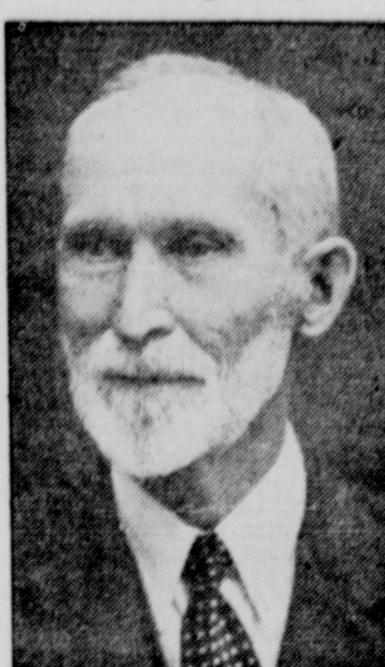

Cpl. Black is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Black, of Aspers.

FLAMES DAMAGE RESIDENCE HERE

Flames which spread rapidly through the walls of the frame dwelling of Dan Johnson, colored, 223 West High street, last Thursday afternoon about 3:45 o'clock caused damage estimated at several hundred dollars. Mrs. H. H. Thomas, York street, the owner, said the property is insured.

After neighbors discovered smoke pouring from the upper section of the dwelling at the western end of a row of three connected dwellings, Glenn Weishaar, 419 South Washington street, broke open the back door of the Johnson home and tossed out a blazing chair which stood near the kitchen stove.

Flames from the chair had burned through a wall and spread upward through ceilings and partitions forcing Gettysburg firemen to use several lines of water and cut openings in the outer wall of the building.

No one was at home when the fire broke out.

Weishaar, who is employed by H. T. Maring, was working on the roof of a nearby house when the fire was discovered.

LOCAL OFFICER IS LIBERATED FROM GERMANS

Captain John C. Hollinger, former assistant professor of Military Science and Tactics at Gettysburg college, who was captured by the Germans last December 16 has been liberated.

Mrs. Hollinger, who has been residing with her brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Hollinger, Lansdowne, since she received word that her husband was "missing," was informed of his liberation last Sunday evening by the Lansdowne Red Cross. The information was relayed to Mrs. Hollinger by telephone. This is the only information she has received about her husband since she received a letter from him written from a prisoner of war camp at Muhlburg, Germany, written January 2.

Captain Hollinger was attached to the 160th Division. He was at St. Vith last December 14 and at that time wrote his wife. That letter was postmarked 9 a. m. December 16, two days after it had been written. On December 16 the Germans staged their surprising breakthrough which developed into the Belgium bulge. Hollinger's outfit, surrounded by the Germans, held out for three days before it was captured.

The local officer lost all his effects and was marched across the Rhine with only the clothes on his back. His personal effects had been taken from him by the Germans and in the first two weeks after his capture he lost 35 pounds. Other members of his outfit wrote their families that the first warm food they received from the Germans was on January 2, some two weeks after their capture.

Captain Hollinger was held at Muhlburg for a while and then was moved to another camp, some of the American officers being taken to northeast Germany. Later they were moved to another camp after the Russians started their drive for Berlin.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS GIVEN BY DR. F. SAYRE

Only a peace based upon the fundamentals of Christian brotherhood for all men can endure, Dr. Francis B. Sayre, diplomatic adviser to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, told members of the graduating class of Gettysburg college at the 113th annual commencement exercises Monday morning in the Majestic theatre.

He told the seniors that the "convictions and opinions of your generation shall decide whether the old forces of material might, narrow nationalism and race snobbery will plunge the world into a new war or whether the principles of Christian brotherhood, unbounded by geographic borders or racial distinctions, shall triumph and build for everlasting peace.

"Silent Tribute"

Doctor Sayre's address came as the climax to the graduation exercises at which the audience stood in silent tribute in memory of the "more than 50 men of Gettysburg college who have given their today as a challenge that we may make our tomorrows worth their sacrifice," in the words of Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college president. He concluded the moment of silence with a prayer for the "men and women of Gettysburg wherever they serve today."

Originally planned for the Beach-em Memorial portico on the campus the graduation exercises were forced indoors by the week-end showers and threatening skies on Monday. After the academic procession from the campus to the theater, the program opened with the National anthem. The invocation was given by the Rev. Dr. Guy E. McCarney, who later received an honorary degree.

Mrs. Murray B. Frazier, Jr., sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Mallotte, to the accompaniment of the Valley Forge Military band. Doctor Sayre's address followed the singing of the college hymn.

Professor Of Law

Doctor Sayre, who is a former adviser to the crown of Siam, former governor general of the Philippines, associate secretary of state and for 15 years a professor of law at Harvard, was introduced by Doctor Hanson as "one of the most distinguished Christian laymen in America."

Comparing the situation today with that in which Lincoln found himself at the time of his deliverance of the Gettysburg address here in 1863, Doctor Sayre said forces that caused the Civil war had "flamed to world wide proportions" and were responsible for the current conflict.

Declaring that "the pagan philosophy of the efficacy of might as the deciding factor in solving world problems has a dangerous hold on the western world," he contrasted with it the Christian emphasis on spiritual forces. "Western civilization is convulsed between these irreconcilable beliefs," the speaker declared and emphasized the fact that it is "more than a theoretical question for millions of lives and all that we hold dear depend upon the decision."

Christian Brotherhood

"We cannot hope for an enduring peace except as we build on human conscience, morality and justice. We must of course resort to physical force to win this war but sheer physical strength will not be enough to preserve peace. As long as might in this world is untempered by right, it will remain a disrupting force. Human progress will depend upon the cohesive force of human brotherhood," he continued.

"Without Christian brotherhood, there will be a World War III," he declared as he described the Christian way of life as an "intensely practical way for here and now and not as a beautiful dream for the past."

As we build for peace, there can be no superior Anglo-American race any more than there could be a superior German race and the Atlantic charter must be applied to the Pacific as well as the Atlantic, he declared. Race exploitation will sow seeds of new wars and human rights must be applied to every nation and race. Calling for a "people's peace," Doctor Sayre pointed to the world conferences of the last two years as "laying the right foundations."

Presentation of diplomas to 53 seniors and the conferring of honorary degrees concluded the exercises. Ten of the seniors had finished their studies last September and four in January when no formal graduation was held.

EX-PRISONER IS VISITING HOME

Pfc. Otis Logan, of Biglerville, who was liberated from Stalag 13C April 29 by tank units of a Yankee armored spearhead, is visiting the home of Charles Pensyl, Biglerville, Logan was captured four and a half months after he arrived in the European theatre and spent eight months overseas. He has five children: Dawn, Theola, Mary, Betty and Calvin Edward, who have been making their home with Mr. Pensyl and his sister, Miss Maude Pensyl, while their father was away.

Pfc. Logan said that the camp where he was a prisoner was a work camp and the food and treatment were "pretty bad." At the time of his liberation the prisoners from Stalag 13C were being evacuated to the rear. Yankee tanks took the guard completely by surprise and they laid down their arms without a fight.

Pfc. Logan said that he had his first decent meal of roast beef, mashed potatoes, peas and gravy after liberation, and that he had no personal belongings when he was freed. All had been taken from him by the Germans.

Home on a 60-day furlough, Logan is not sure whether he will be discharged under the Army's point plan, and he has made no plans for having his family join him if he remains in service. He arrived in Biglerville Sunday.

Its canvas tents were up there on February 7. That first day there were 32 patients. Three days later there were 492.

The unit made its first landing on Noemfoor Island, New Guinea, in July, 1944. For the first seven weeks it was the only hospital unit on the island. Its mortality rate there was three-tenths of one per cent, and altogether 2,952 patients were treated, including 147 Japs. For that task the unit received its award.

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college president, delivered his annual message to the alumni reporting on trustee action that morning establishing the new departments of music and psychology and the training course for social service work.

SMALL BLAZE AT POW CAMP HERE

A fire at the Prisoner of War camp on the battlefield here caused only minor damage to the headquarters and orderly room at about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The fire was said to have been caused by an overheated water heater in the rear of the orderly room. Records and other papers were salvaged and the fire partially under control when the Gettysburg fire department arrived, fire department officials said.

The headquarters and orderly room is located outside the enclosure and did not interfere with the routine operation of the camp.

Damage was limited largely to water-damage and no vital records or papers were destroyed, firemen said.

The fire was extinguished by 9:15 o'clock and the fire department left the scene shortly afterward. A detail of soldiers and prisoners were immediately put to work to clean out the headquarters and establish offices in another building.

The building was part of the old CCC camp, made of planks and tar paper, and only prompt action by camp personnel prevented the fire from spreading.

It was discovered when a column of smoke was noticed in the vicinity of the heater, firemen said. At first it was thought to be smoke from the heater. The alarm was not given until the fire had caught, firemen said, and it was necessary to use an axe on the roof to open the way for water.

Captain Hollinger Enroute To States

In a cablegram received Thursday morning direct from her husband, Mrs. John C. Hollinger, wife of Captain Hollinger, learned that her husband, who was liberated from a German prison camp April 22, is "all right and on his way to the States." The message, received by Mrs. Hollinger at Richmond, Va., where she is visiting, added that the captain hopes to see his family by July 3.

It was only last Sunday evening that Mrs. Hollinger learned officially through the Red Cross that her husband had been liberated from a Nazi prison camp.

Captain Hollinger, former assistant professor of military science and tactics at Gettysburg college, was taken prisoner in mid-December in the area of the German counter-thrust. He first was listed as missing and then was known to have been a prisoner of the Germans.

SGT. REDDING IS RECOVERING

The 131st General Hospital, England—Wounded for the second time since he stormed the beaches of Normandy on D-Day, Sergeant Gregory M. Redding, 21, of Steinwehr avenue, Gettysburg, Pa., is now recovering at this United States Army general hospital in England from a bullet wound of the right leg received near Remagen, Germany.

Sgt. Redding, who has been awarded the Oak Leaf cluster to the Purple Heart, was previously wounded by shrapnel during the fighting near St. Lo, France.

"The Germans were giving us the stiffest fighting since the early days of the invasion," said Sgt. Redding. "They were deeply entrenched in the mountain regions east of the Rhine and they were resisting fanatically."

Sgt. Redding, infantry machine gunner, said his unit had pushed on to take several of the mountain strongholds before he was wounded. "We were attacking one hill, which had three crests," he continued. "With the help of good artillery support we took that hill without sustaining too many casualties. We drew up on top of it to wait for reinforcements and it was then that a sniper shot me." A medic reached him soon after he was hit and bandaged his leg and he was evacuated by litter to an aid station.

First Lieutenant Robert Mallory of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, his ward surgeon, said, "He is making a rapid recovery and will return to duty soon."

Sgt. Redding is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Redding, Steinwehr avenue.

URGES APTITUDE TESTS TO HELP LOCAL PUPILS

Dr. J. B. Zinn, professor of chemistry at Gettysburg college, spoke on "Education for Democracy from the Scientific Viewpoint" at the Rotary club meeting Monday night. Guests from the county school system were present.

Beginning by saying that a silk purse can be made from a sow's ear, Dr. Zinn said that many promising young men and women were lost to the community because there was no way to finance their education. He also discussed a plan for the revision of the elementary school, secondary school and college curricula for the purpose of developing the latent ability of the students and preparing them for citizenship in a democracy.

"Democracy cannot survive without trained leadership," he said and suggested a detailed plan whereby the community would support the schooling of bright young people who could not afford advanced education.

Aptitude Tests

Among Dr. Zinn's proposals was an insistence that reading, writing and mathematics plus speaking should be given more emphasis in the schools and that citizenship, an ability to evaluate the press, radio and motion pictures be taught far earlier than they generally are.

Dr. Zinn also advocated continuous application of aptitude and intelligence tests so that the more capable and intelligent students could be selected for advanced training. He recommended that students be divided into two groups on this basis at the end of the second year of high school and again in the second year of college.

The special guests were Leslie Stock, principal of Biglerville high school, William S. Whitley, principal of Arendtsville high school, John L. Stock, supervising principal at York Springs high school, Dr. Anson Hamme, of Fairfield high school, and Dale Roth, principal of York Springs high school.

President Walter Africa presided at the meeting. Forty-nine members and guests were present.

SYNOD OFFICERS ARE REELECTED AS MEET OPENS

The Rev. Dr. Lloyd M. Keller, Baltimore pastor, was elected president of the Maryland Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America at the opening business session of the 126th annual meeting of the church body Monday evening in the Church of the Abiding Presence on the seminary campus.

These other officers of the synod, which includes 139 congregations of more than 61,000 members, were re-named for another year: Vice president, the Rev. J. Frank Fife, Baltimore; treasurer, Virgil M. Doub, Middletown, Md., and statistical secretary, the Rev. W. G. Minnick, Baltimore. Mr. Minnick was named to the office for his 33rd consecutive term.

In an address at a Synod Brotherhood fellowship dinner Monday evening at the seminary, Dr. Franklin C. Fry, new president of the United Lutheran Church in America, told the churchmen that Protestantism in America has devoted too much of its attention to the middle class and pointed to the exemplary action of Christ who picked his first followers from the extremes of the social ladder. The very rich and the destitute deserve more attention than they have gotten in the past, he said.
